

A flower

Why?

A flower...

1. Because it's beautiful, attractive, gorgeous, lovely, gentle, wonderful, awesome, outstanding!

2. Because it is fragrant, sweet smelling!

And it does not ask to embellish this or that garden. It does not ask to ornament this or that table...

Nor does it perfume this or that person...

The flower allows the bees, butterflies, other insects, and hummingbirds to dance among its petals and collect its pollen indiscriminately...

It flourishes in a manure among shrubs, on a sunny or rainy days, or in an air conditioned environment...

It is present at birth to say hello!

They are present in the death to say goodbye!

In between our daily happy and/or sad moments...

It is democratic, fair, and it is not hurtful, it is not selfish, it is not proud...

It just gives itself...

So, why not try to be like a flower?

Or, at least, why don't you stop by and admires and smell the flowers around you...

Flowering dogwood flower (Don)

Thus....think about the flowers...!