

Point of view...

When we are driving, mainly at night for the first time, or even for the second time it's common for me to pay more attention to one side of the street than the other.

And when we I'm driving back, many times it seems to me that I haven't driven on that street. It seems quite different. It seems that I am lost.

So we should consider all points of view before judging.

In daily life or when referring to malocclusions...

Keep in mind my/your point of view is not only the point of view that exists...

Theory is one thing.

Practice is another thing.

Life is not an arch...

Think about it!
